Get off my land! How to deal with professional squatters, protesters and fly tippers

TANFIELD

Thursday, 22 March 2018 5.45pm to 8pm

Ravenwood Hall Hotel, Rougham, Bury St Edmunds, IP30 9JA

(off Junction 45, A14)

The ALA East of England Group are pleased to invite you to its Spring Seminar at Ravenwood Hall Hotel, Rougham, Bury St Edmunds on Thursday, 22 March 2018

Our speaker will be Katie Gray of Tanfield Chambers.

Tanfield Chambers, a specialist property set, will be providing practical insight into dealing with professional squatters, protestors and tippers on agricultural land.

Katie specialises in real property and landlord and tenant litigation. Hailing from the West Country, Katie's practice has a focus on rural and agricultural land and she is often instructed to deal with agricultural tenancies, private rights and restrictive covenants relating to farm land and, increasingly, adverse possession and professional squatters.

Once the blight of the city property owner, the issue of squatters on rural land is increasingly being encountered by the agricultural community and those advising them. With land being earmarked for development or other controversial use, squatters are becoming ever more professional and difficult to remove. Not only that, but agricultural land is vulnerable to fly-tipping, leading to clear up costs in the tens of thousands of pounds. This talk seeks to provide practical advice on dealing with professional squatters, protestors and tippers, including seeking permission to issue proceedings in the High Court.
